42 MINERS PERISH AS POND EMPTIES INTO IRON SHAFT

CAUGHT IN TRAP WHEN BOTTOM FALLS OUT OF LAKE.

ONLY 7 ESCAPE

Water and Slime Roar Into Lower Levels Without Moment's Warning.

(By Associated Press)
Crosby, Minn. — Forty-two miners perished when the bottom fell out of a small pond and flooded the workings of the Milford Iron Mine near here late Tuesday.

Officials of the company had not completed a check up of their lists. Thirty-seven names have been definitely checked and officials gave them out as follows, declaring their records did not show the age or positive residence of the victims, or whether they were married or single.

Arthur Meyers, Frank Zietz, Joseph Snyder, Alex Jyllia, Jerome Ryan, Emil Carlson, George Hochman, Nels Blum, John Vachek, John Slacker, John Muevich, Roland McDonald, Jacob Ruch, Mike Zakatich, Jacob Ruch, Clyde Howard, G. H. Leonard, John Minorich, Fred Hart, Frank Bravatin, Elmer Hoag, Frank Tomme, Marko Toljan, Nick Radich, Martin Valenich, Henry Maki, Henry Laiti, George Butkovich, Tony Black, Peter Mayvich, Carl Bedard, L. J. Labrash, C. H. Harris, Victor Kattolin, Toy Cunningham and Captain Grellin.

Caught in the lower levels of the small mine, only seven of the crew were able to gain the safety of a skip and ascend to the surface. Like rats in a trap their comrades died, suffocated by the slimy mud and water that rushed through the workings, pouring up the shaft within a few feet of the top within 15 minutes.

There was no extended warning—just a rumble like a thousand automobiles roaring down a distant road, one survivor said. Then the heaving black wave of death engulfed them, battering its victims against the walls.

Tonight around the shaft opening scores of wives and mothers and children stood, some in tears, others dry-eyed, waiting for news as to where the men about them to snuff from the murky waters the bodies of their loved ones.

Mostly young men were among the victims, many of them married, and most of the children that took up the sorrowful vigil with their mothers were first-born sons of the men who were the victims of the disaster.

While a number of the men were foreigners, by far the greater number were naturalized Americans or American-born and all were experienced miners, working in an old mine located on a hillside about a mile north of Crosby in a region somewhat swampy, formerly was the old Ida mine, owned then by the Cuyuna-Minneapolis Iron company.

Two electric high powered pumps are drawing water at the rate of 12,000 gallons a minute, and experienced mining men say that it may require weeks, perhaps months, to free the imprisoned bodies.

John Kala, the last survivor who left the working, today told of trying to save others and that some would have been saved had they heeded his warning.

He said the bottom of the shaft when the crash came. He called to six other men warning them of the danger.

He said something about waiting for the cage. Then, as he fled up the stairs, he saw the men swept to instant death.

Just ahead of him six other men had mounted the stairs to safety.

WHERE WILSON WILL SLEEP

Woodrow Wilson was laid to rest in the National Cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul (Episcopal) in Washington, (upper right) after simple service in Bethlehem Chapel of the cathedral (center) with the Rt. Rev. James Freeman, bishop of Washington, participating in the services.

Washington—Some time between dark and daylight, this morning, an American flag on a slender flag staff was planted on the lawn of the German embassy, which on instructions from Berlin had failed to fly the old man's German colors for two hours.

That the German government would not, like other diplomatic missions, have flown the flag in honor of the dead president, aroused resentment among some American Legion officials, who declared they would ask the state department to take action.

It was said by those at the embassy that Mr. Wilson was regarded as a private citizen and that therefore the Berlin government saw no reason for flying his honors due the head of a foreign state. It was for that reason, it was declared, that the German flag had not been raised.

Late yesterday, however, after the situation had been noted about Washington and had created something of a sensation, the embassy changed its mind, and announced it would fly its flag and tie it at half mast.

He said something about waiting for the cage. Then, as he fled up the stairs, he saw the men swept to instant death.

Just ahead of him six other men had mounted the stairs to safety.

WAR PRESIDENT IS LAID TO REST IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

SIMPLE SERVICES ARE CONDUCTED IN HOME AND CHAPEL.

ATTENDED BY FEW.

Crowds in Silent Tribute as Cortège Passes Between Rows of Troops.

(By Associated Press)
Washington—Woodrow Wilson passed forever today from the world stage where once he towered as a commanding figure.

In the sacred privacy of the home, last rites were said as simple as the faith of the man himself in the goodness of God. Only the presence of the president and the few who were his closest friends in days of adversity and the quiet thousands waiting outside under wintry skies for a humble share in the last leave-taking marked this as the funeral of a great man.

There was more formal service in the cathedral which followed. There, in the chapel that gives entrance to the vault of contemplation, were gathered the dignitaries of government and many men of peace and power in America. Organ notes and the pealing voices of the choir added a touch of ceremony to the brief religious services. But at the very last, the dead passed again into the keeping of his nearest and dearest, who alone might watch over the enlightenment and the faithful faith of the republican service uttered.

Antion Stands Silent

The nation's share in that last moment was only to stand in silent respect as the body of the man who had kept the keeping of an honored American.

During the funeral service, the busy life of the nation's capital stood at a standstill. The streets were empty and the nation's capital stood at a standstill.

STATE LIVESTOCK JUDGING CONTEST

Staged During Little International at College of Agriculture, Feb. 22-23.

Madison.—The attention of $0 of the 100 Badger high schools in which a course in agriculture is given will be centered here February 22-23.

Following a long series of elimination contests, the victorious stock judging teams will compete in the eighth final struggle for state honors in this popular high school activity. Classes of livestock including sheep, horses, dairy cattle, beef cattle, and hogs are being judged by the animal husbandry department from the University of Wisconsin and the University of Minnesota. The contest is being held at the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

It takes fine points to stick some of these boys. A. James, in charge of the arrangements, "Many of them would put some of our older breeders to shame in a judging contest. Last year the high man, George Peterson, Dane county, finished with 2213.21 points out of a possible 2600. Clarence Anderson, of Rock county, was second with 2243.18 points.

A State Contest. Wisconsin is the only state that has a contest of this kind worked out as the result of elimination contests in districts. Most of the states simply have a free-for-all at the College of Agriculture at the high school's expense. Badger high schools interested in live-stock judging are divided into convenient districts averaging four schools. After considerable drilling, the district contest is held and it is the winning team, composed of three members, an alternate and coach which comes to Madison at the expense of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association for the state contest.

The interest and ability worked up by these junior livestock judging contests are an important factor toward bettering the livestock throughout the state, according to J. C. Tobison, Rock county, president and Fred Murray, Dane county, secretary of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association.

"All of our men are watching the contest with keenest interest," says Murray.

A Big Program. Students of the College of Agriculture are working out the entertainment of the boys during their stay here. On Friday night they will be the guests of the Ladies' Glee and Glee club at its Wisconsin Little International Live Stock show, the biggest event of the year in the student life of the agricultural college, and one which attracts thousands of residents of Madison and the surrounding vicinities. The Janesville high school band will furnish the thorough and day and evening. The results of the

LULL IS NOTED IN TAX COLLECTIONS

Fear Slump Is Forerunner of Heavy Rush on Feb. 20, Final Day.

With the last day for payment of taxes without penalty only two weeks distant, a lull in tax collections was noted Wednesday by City Clerk-Treasurer E. J. Sartell. The lull of the last few days is betting every one in the department of finance, and all are anxious for the weather to improve so that the turn of taxpayers will be distributed evenly over the last two weeks. Up to date the department has collected in the neighborhood of $200,000, or approximately 25 per cent of the total levy.

Advice to pay early is given especially to those who may not have received their notices, or who have some question about the descriptions of their property, because in the last minute rush these people will be taking greater chances of not getting in under the wire.

Many people are paying by check through the mails, while others are taking advantage of the opportunity of making tax payments at any of the four banks.

In connection with the last day of the tax period, being Feb. 20, two weeks from Wednesday, it is pointed out that this is "absolutely the last chance to pay without penalty."

There will be no further extensions.

LEGION HEAD IN FINAL SALUTE TO FALLEN CHIEF

Calling Woodrow Wilson a "villainous traitor" and "the worst of the American Legion," the American Legion, Janesville, issued a last touching salute to the great commander-in-chief, Wednesday, on the day of his burial in Washington, D. C. Commander Gross predicts that the voice of the fallen leader will be the guiding spirit for years to come.

The commander's salute, in the name of the local legion, follows: "The passing of Woodrow Wilson touches the hearts of the men who served with him in the greatest conflict of human history. We are proud of our service under his great leadership. He goes to join our comrades fallen in the cause of Peace. He left the world which we can believe that his voice will be the guiding spirit for years to come.

"Wilson was a 'disabled veteran' of the world's war. His example should quicken us to the duty we owe to those thousands of our comrades, who like our great commander-in-chief, await the call of the High Command.

"On this day, as he passes from human eyes, we render to our chief, a last salute, and wish him the repose which he has so nobly earned.

OPERATIONS FOR FEMALE TROUBLES

Some Are Necessary, Some Are Not
These Women Gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Trial First

Fairview, S. Dakota. — "A year ago I was sick in bed for three weeks and the doctor said I would not be any better without an operation. I had bearing-down pains and sick headaches, with pains in the back of my neck. I felt tired all the time, downhearted, and got poor and pale and was scarcely able to do anything at all for some time before I took to my bed. The doctor said one of my organs was out of place and caused all my troubles. I was too weak and run-down to think of an operation and as one of my neighbors told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began taking it. I have received great relief from it and recommend it very highly. It cannot be praised too much in cases of female weakness." — Mrs. O. M. Ring, Box 106, Fairview, South Dakota.

New Jersey Woman Writes
Camden, New Jersey. — "I take great pleasure in writing you this testimonial. I was a great sufferer of woman's ailments and doctors told me 18 years ago that I must have a serious operation to remove some of my organs. I refused to have it done and took a full course of your medicines for six months, then after the full course I took a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound every week or two, and Lydia E. JUDGMENT OF THE STORM

An amazing story that lays bare the folly and tragedy of man's greed—that plumbs the depth of mother love and man's love for woman—a compelling story that is rooted in the fertile soil of every day life!

Greater than "Way Down East" with a smashing climax, tremendously dramatic, actually filmed in the blizzards and snowstorms of the high Sierras!

LYON HUGHES, MYRTLE STEEDMAN, CLARE MEDOW-ELL.

WE ARE WILLING TO BET THAT YOU HAVE NOT SEEN A PHOTOPLAY IN SOME TIME THAT IS EQUAL TO THIS EXCITING, TREMENDOUS AND WONDERFUL DRAMA.

A Picture That is as Great Today as Was "Way Down East" of Yesterday

NOTE — WE ARE PLAYING THIS PICTURE AHEAD OF ITS CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE RUNS.

The Wagon Wheel

"Well—go on," urged the sheriff. Pap shook his head. "It isn't necessary to describe the animal—these witnesses." The sheriff nodded. "We'll let it go. But the game ain't played out yet."

"This particular deal is. If you feel like giving us our kins and say, 'so long,' Mr. Sawyer, we don't take up any more of your valuation time."

"Unless you want to ask us more questions," asked Sam.

"The sheriff shook his head. He had remained calm of his emotions. "No questions. You can give 'em their guns, Nate—out in the street," said Pap. "I want them too."

"This was not much. The sheriff blazed up with a roar. "I'm keeping this saddle and bridle for future use," said Pap.

"Well, fit," said Pap. "But we'll be back. I want my saddle. You ain't got any right to keep it, not a damn right. I'll have the law on you, sheriff or no sheriff."

"Top Sawyer laughed. "In the law around here, so go ahead and sue the law on me all you want. G'one, Git!"

Pap and his youngest went out and slammed the door behind them. Derr still from his chair to the and window. He saw the Hawkins folk were hustening diagonally across the street toward the office of Judge Dolan. Derr at once, hung up the cash, plunged a leg over the window sill and oozed into the street.

"Hey! come back here!" bawled the sheriff. "I ain't through with you yet!"

But Derr did not even turn his head. When the sheriff turned his head, Tom Hicks had vanished.

"What? Where? Tom Hicks? Hap Green supplied helpfully, 'he just now went out the door.'"

"The sheriff reached for his hat. "Come on, boys. I'll show those two chumps who's boss around here."

But before Top Sawyer showed those two chumps anything he hurried to the Happy Heart, where he felt certain of finding Mac and Vert. He found the gentlemen sitting in their third round. They pressed him to join them, but at the moment liquor held no allure for Sheriff Top Sawyer.

"I ain't thirsty," said he. "Are you boys sure Hap Derr didn't get a chance to talk to Tom Hicks somewhere on the road?"

"Yes, it's like I told you back there at the house," Mac assured him. "Tom only spoke to two people beside us from the time we left the Sheriff's till we saw you here in Fawcett. And both those people were bartenders, and all he said was, 'I'll take the same,' and 'Pass the bottle,' I tell you I'm sure. No, he couldn't. Not at night or any other time. When one of us two was sleeping, the other was awake. So you see."

Dinner Stories

A scrappy old party emerged triumphant from a piffing case in a squire's court. The man who had lost two million in a lawsuit, and the squire, started to leave the court room he shook his fist under the old fellow's nose and snarled: "I'll have you to the court again."

"No, sir," replied the grizzled winner, "go ahead 'n' do it. I'll be there."

"And I'll have you to the supreme court," shouted the squire, "I'll be there."

"All right," said the old chap, "I'll be there."

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age, or any subject which does not belong in the field of the doctor.

IMMUNITY TO DISEASE

After 5 years of age when the children go to school the series of children's diseases begin. It is a fact that the child who is not properly protected by his mother's milk and by the proper foods, especially those foods which are called "protective," will have a more serious illness than the child who is properly protected.

In order to protect one's child from infectious diseases one should be sure that he is getting the proper foods, especially those foods which are called "protective." Vitamins come in this class and we know that children given enough milk daily, milk so that they can have a good and sufficient supply of oxygen.

A good natural appetite is another essential. The nose should be clear and unobstructed by adenoids and the throat free of enlarged tonsils. The child should be given a good and sufficient supply of oxygen.

The poisons of the body should be freely eliminated, and for this the best is the clear, as mentioned above, and the bowels active daily. Lots of sleep and fresh air and exercise sum up the measures of natural prevention.

In addition to these science has contributed many serums and vaccines, that mechanically increase immunity to certain diseases, those for typhoid, smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tuberculosis being in general use.

Babies are born with an immunity to disease and breast fed babies particularly seldom catch anything the first three months and when they are in a family of growing children, are being fed cows' milk and other foods they are just as susceptible as any of the older children.

In order to protect one's child from infectious diseases one should be sure that he is getting the proper foods, especially those foods which are called "protective." Vitamins come in this class and we know that children given enough milk daily, milk so that they can have a good and sufficient supply of oxygen.

A good natural appetite is another essential. The nose should be clear and unobstructed by adenoids and the throat free of enlarged tonsils. The child should be given a good and sufficient supply of oxygen.

The poisons of the body should be freely eliminated, and for this the best is the clear, as mentioned above, and the bowels active daily. Lots of sleep and fresh air and exercise sum up the measures of natural prevention.

In addition to these science has contributed many serums and vaccines, that mechanically increase immunity to certain diseases, those for typhoid, smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tuberculosis being in general use.

Babies are born with an immunity to disease and breast fed babies particularly seldom catch anything the first three months and when they are in a family of growing children, are being fed cows' milk and other foods they are just as susceptible as any of the older children.

It is a fact that the child who is not properly protected by his mother's milk and by the proper foods, especially those foods which are called "protective," will have a more serious illness than the child who is properly protected.

working in my office and I am deeply in love with her. She has other friends and it almost breaks my heart to know that she goes with them. Please suggest some way for me to win her.

CAN'T HELP IT. Pay the girl so much attention that she will not have time to go with the other men. If you take her to dinner, to places of amusement, and call at her home, you will probably find that she is satisfied with your company. In case she is not responsive to your efforts and prefers the company of the others, you might just as well try to conquer your love for her.

A FLIRT. Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man 22 years of age. I stayed in the country for about a year and during that time became acquainted with a girl whom I liked very much.

Now I live in the city and since living here have been with this girl several times. I have learned to like her very much with the exception of one thing. When I go places with her, for example to show, she pays more attention to the other young men around her than to me. I have told her of my love for her and she says she loves me. Would you advise me to mention it to her?

Also would you advise me to get her an engagement ring? Or do you think she is interested in me? I got her a ring which I thought she would prefer, platinum or gold?

The girl probably flirts unconsciously. Doubtless she would be deeply hurt if anyone told her she flirts. The fact she is interested in the young men around her would not necessarily indicate a lack of love for you. She likes men in general. I think, however, that it would be all right for you to say that you think she shows too much interest in the other young men around her. It is not good for her to be so and you can help her if you are tactful. Wait a month or two before getting the ring. Even in that length of time you will be able to judge better whether or not she loves you. I presume she would prefer platinum since that is most generally used now.

When finished wash off the lard and dust your hands lightly with powder.

OF WHAT value is bowling as an exercise? The best authorities call it a mild exercise, but it does up practically every muscle in the body without overtaxing any of them. It increases the circulation of the blood, acting as a tonic without any detrimental after effects. It is just the thing for the person who does not like, or cannot stand, violent exercise. Further, it is convenient and as such may be taken at any time. Bowling develops the chest, it makes lung expansion firm. It reduces superfluous flesh and is recommended especially for women who want to reduce. It quickens the eye. It clears the complexion, another asset to women. It strengthens the muscles, especially of the forearm. It increases and adds to grace of movement and here again the ladies will find it an aid. It brings into play muscles of the body that need exercising and is equal to walking in many respects. Says one man: "A good bowler has fine poise, a swift adjustment and splendid control of the body."

Third Place in Sixth Five Men Steady

New third places—a double and singles, a new second in the all-around and the smashing in the first ten by Smith and Ehlke, star bowlers of Milwaukee, marked the Wisconsin state pin meet here, Tuesday and Wednesday morning. Nothing happened to displace the leaders in the five man division Tuesday night, although the Lins Wingers of the Green Bay city came mighty close to placing.

To the fans the coming of the Smith-Ehlke pair was the outstanding spectacle of the day and though these men did not go so high as expected, they displayed class in their efforts and worked well against a series of bad breaks. Wednesday morning, C. Rahn and A. Becker of Milwaukee, topped the place for a count of 1214 and named their way into third of the doubles. They had games of 455-410-381. That last was all that kept them from going into first. Rahn had 617 (250-202-160) and Becker hit 239, 208-191 for 620. The count is only 22 pins lower than first place.

The pair went ahead of P. Herrick and G. Schank of Milwaukee, who had gone to fourth Tuesday on a count of 1213. The only others to place in the two-man section were Smith and Ehlke, who hit into sixth with 1201 and now are seventh. Both men have numbers 1214 and 1213, but they kept them from going higher. Smith, twice all-events champion of the world and the only man to hold that distinction, was the bigger of the two with 674 (139-224-121). He had four splits and picked two of them. In his 250 game he opened with a split that he swept off and then had strikes except in two frames where he had spares. Ehlke had but a 57 with games of 291-161-155.

O. Boehm of Milwaukee slushed his way into third of the individuals Tuesday when he gathered up the wood behind the 79 that is marking first place field by A. Liebscher of Milwaukee. Boehm started with a nice big game of 234, fell to 194 and finished with 218. He turned to open the first game, got two spares, turkeys again, spared (wies) and finished with a strike. In the second, after having four strikes up, he had a turkey and a spare, then settled to a strike, two spares and a strike. In the last game, he spared, turkeys, spared, had four strikes, a spare and again a turkey. A. Kraeger of Milwaukee landed into second of the all-events with 1855; J. Peterson of Kenosha went into a tie for third with 1857 for his nine games. January Smith placed in 1884 in all-events and that count put him in eighth.

The best work of the day in the team events was a count of 2846 by the Wisconsin Wingers of Milwaukee. It is a total not to be sneezed at, but others have hit ahead of it and it did not get into the first ten, although mighty close to it. The team had games of 923-1001-912. Herk's Bright Spots of Milwaukee hit a big game of 1028, their middle, Wendt hitting 221; Heyer, 242; Dill Penske, 139; Dierker, 182; and Ehlke, 221. Milwaukee, Racine, Fond du Lac, Madison and Watertown teams were to roll Wednesday. Oshkosh is unable to get here because of rail conditions.

Chadsey Returns to Milton College

Milton—Basketball hopes raised at Milton college Tuesday when M. S. Chadsey, star of the Janesville Black Cats and of the Milton Legion team, registered Tuesday for the second semester. He will be eligible to play basketball this year. Howard (Butch) McNitt has also entered school but will not be able to play basketball. He will continue playing with the Milton Legion. It was announced also that C. S. Kneveland, star of Milton's 1922 tennis team will enter school shortly. With Daland who also was a member of the team, Chadsey should be strongly represented in that sport this year. A heavy tennis schedule is being arranged for next spring.

Entries Slow Up for Ice Racing; Action, Please

Entries continue to come in for the third annual Gazette Ice Derby but not enough. Out of the hundreds at the high school only a few are taking any interest, when there should be at least 100 from that institution. The grades are lacking in their full support. What's up? The Gazette is giving the finest medals ever put forth for an athletic event in southern Wisconsin. Amateur drivers, remember, entries close Friday at midnight. Better get busy and fill yours in now. Don't wait until Saturday night and wish you had entered. Get in now. Clip this blank.
